

Pennsylvania Summer '08

One day
We woke up to find a
Tree, toppled by mother nature, or lightening
Or a thousand determined
Chipmunks...
Laid dead
Across fall run forest

Each day
Like vines we climbed over
Until the vines swallowed it whole
And it was the path
And so were we.

-Audrey Schreiber